

Education:

May, 2003 Completed AMP164 program (2 months) at Harvard Business School in Boston, MA

1966-1970 Tokai University; Bachelor of Engineering degree in Optical Engineering (Photo-Electro-Optics)

Work Experience:

April 2005 to Current:

Established Office-KOBY as Technical Consultant, then formed private limited company in September, 2006 as Office-KOBY Ltd at No.101, 3-4-3 Nishiogi-minami, Suginami-ku, Tokyo 167-0053 Japan after resigned Alcon on June 2004.

January 2004 to June 2004:

Technical Service Manager of Alcon Japan Ltd. Responsible for Refractive Laser business development with "LadarVision" excimer laser system in addition to management of Technical Service Dept. in Tokyo, Japan.

January 2002 to December 2003:

Surgical Division Manager of Alcon Japan Ltd. Responsible for management of Surgical Division, which includes Surgical Marketing group and Surgical Sales group with Instrumentation Sales Manager and IOL/Disposable Sales Manager. Acting Technical Service Manager during the periods.

January 1997 to December 2001:

Surgical Marketing Manager (Acting) of Alcon Japan in addition to Tech Service Manager. Responsible for management of Surgical Marketing Dept. with Product Managers and Marketing Service Administrators.

February 1989 to December 1996:

Technical Service Manager of Alcon Japan, responsible for management of Technical Service Dept. As CooperVision was acquired by Alcon Laboratories, all employees were merged in Alcon Japan organization in 1989.

October 1986 to January 1989:

Founded Technical Service group responsible for government registration, local development and technical servicing of instrumentation and managed Technical Service Department of Takata CooperVision Inc. in Tokyo, Japan. Company name changed as a result of acquisition by CooperVision in 1986.

July 1979 to September 1986:

Import Section Manager of Takata Ophthalmic Instruments Co.,Ltd., which is importer/exporter and manufacture of ophthalmic instruments, and distributor of CooperVision Inc. in USA. Started as person in charge of import products to handle sales/service training as well as product registration, and later promoted to manager.

September 1978 to June 1979:

Design engineer of Yashica Co.,Ltd. in Nagano Prefecture, Japan in charge of optical/mechanical design and engineering of viewing/range finders for 35mm camera.

June 1974 to August 1978:

Technical Instructor & Service Engineer of Yashica Inc. in NJ, USA. Stationed in NY and CA after transferred from Japan and duties included supervising local technicians.

April 1970 to May 1974:

Joined Yashica Co.,Ltd. in Nagano Prefecture, Japan as Optical engineer for camera after graduating Tokai University with Bachelor of Engineering degree in Optical engineering.